Write About The Topic

Organizing your answer

Write About The Topic

Organizing your answer

The independent tasks require test takers to describe, recount, or make an argument; these require the test takers to demonstrate more discursive knowledge of writing in addition to language knowledge (Cushing-Weigle, 2002).

Write About
The Topic

Organizing your answer

The independe
require the test ta
to language knowledge (Cushing-Weigle, 2002).

demonstrate more discursive knowledge of writing

Write About The Topic

Organizing your answer

Your paragraph should include:

1. topic sentence (introduction)
2. supporting ideas
3. concluding sentence

Write About The Topic

Organizing your answer

Your answer should include:

1. an introduction: Topic sentence
2. supporting ideas
3. a concluding sentence

All of the sentences are about one topic.

Write About
The Topic

Topic sentence

What is a topic sentence?

- It is the first sentence of a paragraph.
- It tells the reader what the paragraph is about.
- It controls or guides the whole paragraph.
- It states your position or opinion. (argument)

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons.

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons.

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons.

I do not believe that high school students should be required to wear a uniform for two reasons.

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons.

I do not believe that high school students should be required to wear a uniform for two reasons.

Write About The Topic

Supporting ideas

What are supporting ideas?

- They explain and develop the topic sentence.
- They develop the topic sentence by explaining discussing the ideas more fully.
- They can explain, describe, give reasons, give facts, or give examples.

Write About The Topic

Supporting ideas

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

Write About The Topic

Supporting ideas

Examples

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons.

Write About The Topic

Supporting ideas

Examples

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons. First of all, uniforms make everyone equal.

Write About The Topic

Supporting ideas

Examples

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons. First of all, uniforms make everyone equal. This is important because it allows students from poorer familiar to be on the same level as students from richer ones while at school.

You should always include at least one supporting idea. If you can, aim for two.

Write About The Topic

Concluding sentence

What is a concluding sentence?

- It is used to signal the end of the paragraph.
- It tells the reader the important points to remember.
- Usually signposted with a concluding phrase.

  To conclude, In conclusion, To sum up, etc.
- It is often a paraphrase of the topic sentence.

Write About The Topic

Topic sentence

Examples

Question: Some high schools require all students to wear school uniforms. Other high schools permit students to decide what to wear to school. Which of these two school policies do you think is better? (argument)

Write About The Topic

Concluding sentence

Example

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons. First of all, uniforms make everyone equal. This is important because it allows students from poorer familiar to be on the same level as students from richer ones while at school.

Write About The Topic

Concluding sentence

Example

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons. First of all, uniforms make everyone equal. This is important because it allows students from poorer familiar to be on the same level as students from richer ones while at school. To sum up, I believe that it is vital that school uniforms for high school students should be mandatory.

word count: 65

Write About The Topic

Concluding sentence

Example

School uniforms should be mandatory for all high students for a number of important reasons. First of all, uniforms make everyone equal. This is important because it allows students from poorer familiar to be on the same level as students from richer ones while at school. For this reason, I believe that it is vital that school uniforms for high school students should be mandatory.

word count: 65